First Quarter Taxable Retail Sales by City Now on DOR Web Site

OLYMPIA, Wash., July 12, 2001 — Taxable retail sales for all Washington cities for the first quarter of 2001 have just been posted on the Department of Revenue's web site.

The tables, which include comparisons to the first quarter of 2000, are available at <http://dor.wa.gov/reports/lst/allq101.htm?noframes>.

The figures are compiled from tax returns submitted by businesses and represent all taxable retail sales activity, including sales stemming from construction projects. Taxable retail sales from construction can be highly volatile, leading to large swings in figures from period to period, particularly for small cities.

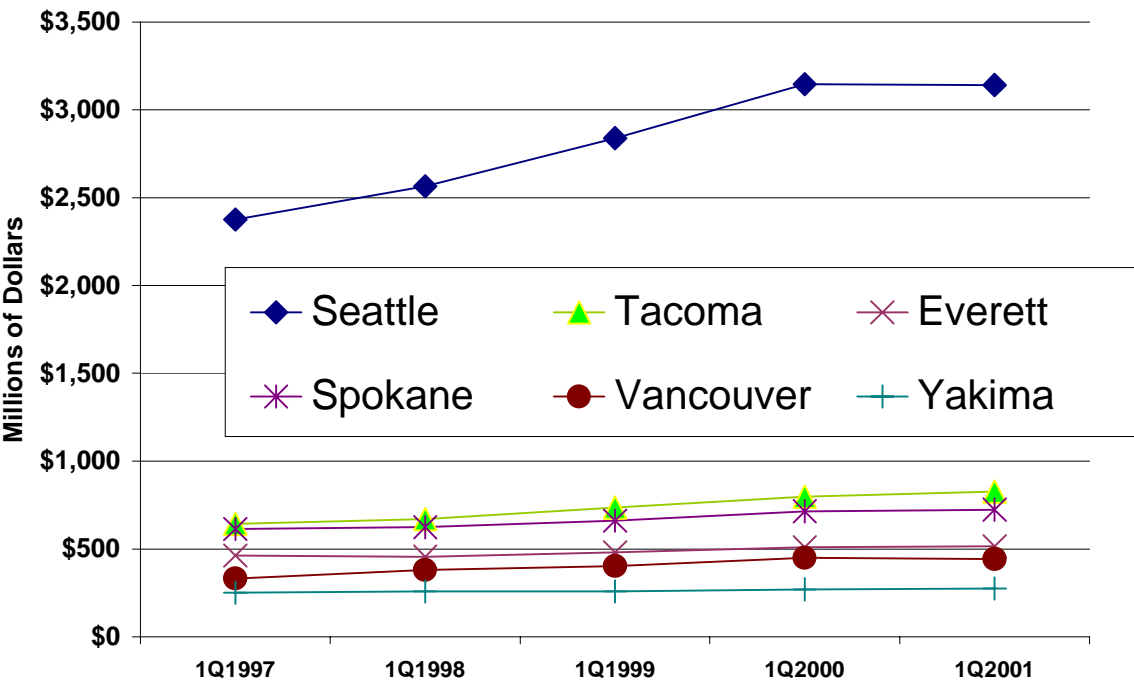

The report shows taxable retail sales by unincorporated county and incorporated cities within that county. To determine the overall taxable retail sales for that county, add all the figures together.

A more detailed Quarterly Business Review that breaks down the figures by industry for 50 Washington cities and all counties will be posted on the web within a few weeks, followed by statewide gross income figures by industry sector.

Note that the Department has discontinued printing quarterly editions of this report because the information can be provided electronically more quickly and at lower cost. The Department will continue to print a calendar year business review.
